

We provide consultancy on research and clinical issues for other companies, clinics, and individual practitioners or students on an hourly/daily fee basis or a project basis.

We may help you to design your study, clinical audit, select the most appropriate measures, design or look after your databases and even conduct statistical analyses and write reports for you.

We may help you integrate and make the best use of new technologies for your patients in your practice or clinic. Depending on your project or needs you may outsource a significant part of your work to our company.

Through our diagnostic programme ("Prodromos - Diagnosis ") we also provide consultancy for individual patients or families for the most appropriate and effective treatments (based on current evidence and knowledge) and other therapy experts near your area.
