

We are keen to have on-board expert bipolar patients who will be able to contribute their experiences on our blog, evaluate and advise us on our existing and new clinical services. There may be possibilities to offer private user-led services with the guidance and supervision of our clinical team to our patients.

If you are interested in joining our expert-patient team send an email (support@bipolarlab.com) with a brief biographical note, the reasons you wish to join us, and your CV.